

Dinner benefits program for autistic children at Alpine Learning Group

Fleming's Prime Steakhouse & Wine Bar in Edgewater hosted an afternoon of food and music on Feb. 22 to benefit Alpine Learning Group in Paramus and SingSOS/ Songs of the Spectrum. SingSOS is an autism awareness project that enlists the power of music to convey the range of experiences involved in the disorder.

DEIRDRE FLANAGAN WARD

Wendy Worden, director of development, Alpine Learning Group with Dr. Bridget Taylor, executive director, Alpine Learning Group

Michelle DiPiazza; N.J. State Assemblywoman Joan Voss; Tom DiPiazza, president, board of directors, Alpine Learning Group; and Jodi DiPiazza (front)

The social editor for (201) magazine, Deirdre Flanagan Ward covers charity events throughout the area.

Look for expanded coverage of social events in Bergen in the March issue of (201) magazine and on www.201.net. Subscriptions are also available for purchase on the Web site.

Jon Fried, Deena Shoshkes, and John O'Neil

Regina Cioffi and Lori Panico

Genie Girault with her son, Julian, a former student at Alpine Learning Group

Mark Gatto, Johnny Rojas and Tom DiPiazza

Scott Kroener, chef partner at Fleming's Prime Steakhouse, Edgewater

PHOTOS BY DENNIS PIKE FOR (201) MAGAZINE